Sculpture by National Medal of Arts recipient to be featured at Residence Inn Arlington Courthouse

Washington DC, January 13, 2009 — In cooperation with the Arlington Cultural Affairs' Public Art Program, Donohoe Development Company has commissioned Jesús Moroles to design a one-of-a-kind collection of granite pieces for the Residence Inn by Marriott at Arlington Courthouse. Moroles, recent recipient of the nation's highest honor for artistic excellence, is renowned for his large-scale granite sculptures, which have been installed and displayed in museum, corporate, public and private collections throughout the world. Currently under construction in Moroles' studio in Texas, "Courthouse River Plaza" will consist of grand granite sculpted river beds with several ascending granite fountains, surrounded by moveable granite benches. The piece is inspired by Arlington's unique location along Virginia's "Fall Line" and the Potomac River as it transitions from Virginia's Piedmont Region to its coastal area.

The Residence Inn by Marriott at Arlington Courthouse will be Arlington's newest extended-stay hotel, located at the western end of Courthouse Plaza at 1401 North Adams Street. Designed by architecture firm Leo A. Daly, the 10-story contemporary hotel will include 10,000 square feet of retail space, 180 underground parking spaces and a surrounding plaza with the granite fountain sculpture by Jesús Moroles as the centerpiece. The Arlington Courthouse project is scheduled to open in August of 2009.
